It's been quite a year! Take a look at a few of our highlights as we head into the summer.

SPP is becoming one of the largest and most diverse public policy schools in Europe.

SPP's second annual conference tackled the theme "Democracy Shunned: Debates and Prospects" with keynote speakers Sheri Berman, Valerie Bunce, Saskia Sassen, and Nadia Urbinati.
SPP Advisory Board member Deepa Narayan challenged her audience to "speak up" against gender inequality during a Kapuscinski Development Lecture.

CEU students united to fundraise for relief and aid efforts in earthquake-stricken Nepal.

The Global Policy Academy provoked lively debates during the "Anticipating Drug Legalisation" workshop.

The Center for Media, Data and Society (CMDS) published a report on the state of internet freedom in Hungary.

SPP students led an international youth conference on Bosnia and Herzegovina's transition at the Center for Conflict, Negotiation and Recovery (CCNR).
